Information day on the Master programme
“Highway and Traffic Engineering”

الخميس 4 ديسمبر 2014
قاعة مجلس الكلية

Thursday, December 4, 2014
Main Faculty Meeting Room
Faculty of Engineering
Ain Shams University
Cairo, Egypt

Objectives:

The info day event has the aim of presenting the Master of Highway and Traffic Engineering to students and students' associations at the premises of each Mediterranean university participating in the HiT4Med project, including Ain Shams University. The info day event is organised prior the start of the Masters, in order to have the involvement of students and students' associations from the very beginning of the project and to have their acceptance, but also to collect pre-registrations to Master courses.

The objectives of the info day event are:

- Inform students and students' associations on the launch of the Master program on Highway and Traffic Engineering;
- Collect interest and pre-registrations to Master courses;
- Present the opportunity of a short term internship in European universities on Highway and Traffic Engineering's topics;
- Disseminate as wide as possible the HiT4Med project.

Attendance:

It is important to have students of potential interest to the Master program, as well as students' associations that can disseminate largely the start of the Master program.

It is important also to have other universities' representatives, enterprises and association of enterprises, as stakeholders in the Highway and Traffic Engineering sector for exploitation reasons.

International HiT4Med project partners from renowned European universities and research institutes are coming in order to outline the project and the planned Masters courses.

The event is organised in several Egyptian universities and research institutes: Alexandria, at AASTMT premises (1st December 2014); in Zagazig, at ZU premises (2nd December 2014); in Cairo, at CU premises (3rd December 2014) and at Ain Shams University premises (4th December 2014).
